CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress,

With Congress in recess for Holy Week, attention is being focused on the legislative program scheduled to get under way next week. Included in the important measures to receive early consideration by the Congress will be legislation to continue the Price Control Act and the OPA, make changes in the Internal Revenue laws to simplify income tax returns, increase the national debt limitation from two hundred and ten billion dollar dollars to two hundred and sixty billion, make certain changes in the draft and manpower laws, and provide appropriations for the coming fiscal year.

A number of Congressional investigations will also either get under way or be continued during the next three months. The Truman Committee is expected to broaden its inquiry into business and economic affairs or the home front affecting the war effort. The Postwar Committees of both the Senate and the House will continue their studies as to proper methods to cancel war contracts, reconvert industry to peace-time production, and to distribute surplus war commodities. Another House committee will prepare plans for rearranging the postwar military structure of the United States. Special committees in both the House and Senate will dig deep into the oil situation as to American and foreign oil supplies, and will also investigate gasoline distribution and rationing or the home front. The House is also expected to order a study and investigation of the Office of War Information, and the news and propaganda now being disseminated to the armed forces. The Dies Committee will devote considerable time to an investigation of the alleged smear campaign against the Congress, while the Lee Committee will conclude its investigation of the Federal Communications Commission.

Officials of the Office of Price Administration will be called upon to explain many things before the final draft of legislation to continue the life of the Price Control Act, which will otherwise expire on June 30th is written into law. Undoubtedly a number of the present practices of OPA will be prohibited in the future, and citizens accused of violation of the law and of OPA regulations will be given the right of appeal to the courts. An attempt will also likely be made to include a complete prohibition or provide tight restrictions, on payment of subsidies.

According to the latest report, the Office of Price Administration has a total of 45,342 paid employees, of which 51,718 are working under the direction of the 5500 local price and rationing boards, the eight regional boards, the eight regional offices, or the 93 state and district offices of OPA. The Washington OPA headquarters had approximately 3700 employees on the payroll. In addition to the paid employees, more than 200,000 volunteer workers contribute their efforts to local OPA offices, 6,000 of this number are members of local Price Panels to check prices posted in stores and to report alleged violations by housewives and merchants. Incidentally, OPA still has 1300 attorneys and 2800 fulltime investigators on the job, while 385 OPA Advisory Committees have been organized to represent various branches of private industry and trade.

Appropriations for the Office of Price Administration for this fiscal year, (which ends June 30 next) total $155,000,000.00, most of which is expended for salaries. Ration books, tokens and posters for the fiscal year are scheduled to cost $4,650,000.00 while $1,250,000.00 is set aside to pay for "publicity for the OPA (presumably to make you like price control and rationing)". OPA officials spend a great deal of time and money in travel, too for the travel allowance for the fiscal year was $6,750,000.00, or $122,000 for everyone of the OPA's employees, including the janitors, typists and office workers. OPA officials, however, insist that the present 55,000 employees, and the current appropriation of $155,000,000.00, are insufficient to permit them to do a good job of price control and rationing, and are asking for increased appropriations so that more employees may be hired—especially of the investigator type—and to provide for more publicity and travel.

GUEST SPEAKER

DR. HOMER HENDERSON

Dr. Homer Henderson, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, in Grove City, Pa., and moderator of the General Assembly in 1940, is to be the speaker at the 50th anniversary dinner to be tendered Dr. W. R. McChesney by the Xenia Kiwanis Club and Cedarville College, Tuesday evening, April 18, at Geyer's in Xenia.
Dr. Henderson graduated from Cedarville College in 1902 and from the Old Xenia Seminary in 1905 and Monmouth College in 1924. He received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Cedarville in 1924.

Willkie Meets Defeat and Not A Candidate

Wendell Willkie, one-time Democrat from Wall Street, regarded by many as a "stooge" for Franklin D. Roosevelt, trying to capture the Republican nomination for president and party control for the New Deal Communists, took a terrible beating in the Wisconsin Republican primary on Tuesday.

Willkie, who secured the Republican nomination four years ago on a fluke backed by Wall Street interests and the liquor people, attempted to "come-back" but the Badgerites evidently had enough of his internationalism and turned him down, running last in a list of four candidates, not even getting one delegate to the Republican convention from that state.
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York, who has refused to announce, will have 18 or more of the delegates. Willkie campaigned in Wisconsin for two weeks and captured a goose-egg, which was not encouraging news to the White House. Gov. Bricker of Ohio was not entered in that state primary.

Willkie was campaigning in Nebraska at the time of receiving returns from Wisconsin. He admitted in a public statement that it would be hopeless to try to continue his campaign in the face of the stand taken by the Badger voters who did not give him a single delegate unless one can be found in the recount. The primary returns were as much of a shock to the Democratic press as to Willkie and his backers. New Dealers were the main supporters to get Willkie nominated as a stooge for Roosevelt. The primary returns also leave Walter Winchell out on the end of a line.

Four Children Dead; Oil Stove Explodes

Two children suffocated and two others died from burns on the face, arms and legs suffered when flames damaged a three-family dwelling in Xenia, Monday afternoon.

The dead are the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Terrell. The fire originated when a coal oil stove is said to have exploded. The children were: Helen, 8, Champa Jean, 3, James Edwin, 1 1/2 years, and Eldora, born last November. Mr. Terrell carried the baby out while the other three ran to a bedroom and crawled in bed.
Mrs. Ankeney Burrell, mother of 10 children, next door carried her baby out and led three other youngsters to safety.

Mrs. Terrell is a sister of Sylvester Ford Shanks, 17, killed March 16 at a crossing near Xenia when a train hit his automobile.

Darke County Farmers Raid and Burn AAA Gasoline Records

Darke county farmers raided and burned AAA gasoline records in three townships last Saturday night, according to reports. All sort of charges have been made against the AAA and reports from Washington headquarters of both the AAA and OPA say no authority was ever granted AAA to regiment gas users on the farm. An order issued March 16 forbids AAA from forcing farmers to join against their will.

HONORED GUEST

DR. W. R. MCCHESNEY

By joint action of the Xenia Kiwanis Club and Cedarville College, a testimonial dinner will be tendered Dr. W. R. McChesney, Tuesday evening, April 18th at Geyer's in Xenia.

Dr. McChesney came to Cedarville College with the opening of the institution in 1894. He graduated from Franklin College in 1892, the institution later merging with Muskingum College in 1927. He became a member of the college faculty as instructor in Greek and Philosophy. At various times he has served as secretary of the College; Vice President; Dean; and was elected president in 1915, serving until 1940 when he resigned but retained his teaching connection.

Dr. McChesney has served Greene County in the Ohio General Assembly with honor and distinction. He is now a candidate at the coming primary to succeed himself.

It is not out of place to mention that honor is due Dr. F. A. Jurkat, a Franklin College graduate, who has been a member of the College faculty since 1894, as professor of Modern languages and History. He served as College treasurer for many years as well as treasurer of other college activities.

Egg Price Slump Alarms Poultrymen and Senators Alike

WASHINGTON—A group of 15 mid-west senators called on War Food Administrator Marvin Jones for a solution to the acute situation in the egg market resulting from a fall in egg prices that has made farmers threaten to cancel their spring baby chick orders.

Jones called a meeting in the office of Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, Rep., of Nebraska, to hear complaints that egg prices in the Omaha market had fallen to 20c a dozen, 12c below the government supported support price.
The conference was called after Wherry and other senators received several petitions representing some 300 egg producers who said that unless they got relief from the collapsed market they would cancel their current chick orders and refuse to raise chickens next summer. Wherry said the present egg situation was like the pork surplus of last December.

"This is the hog situation all over again," Wherry said. "We had a pork glut and OPA refused to cancel point values. Now we still have storage facilities loaded with pork so that there is no place to store eggs. Consequently the prices have dropped so low that the farmers can't live on the return."

The 14 other senators in the conference were Sen. Gillett, D., Iowa; Sen. Bushfield, R., S. D.; Sen. Wilson, R., Iowa; Sen. Brooks, R., Ill.; Sen. Reed, R., Kan.; Sen. Butler, R., Neb.; Sen. Capper, R., Kan.; Sen. Gurney, R., S. D.; Sen. Shipstead, R., Minn.; Sen. Milliken, R., Colo.; Sen. Johnson, D., Colo.; Sen. LaFollett, Pro., Wis.; and Sen. Wiley, R., Wis.

Gov. Calls Legislature For Soldier Vote

COLUMBUS—Gov. John W. Bricker has called a special session of the legislature to meet at 8:30 P. M., EWT Wednesday, April 26, to consider legislation to facilitate voting in the November election by Ohioans in the armed service.

The Governor said the session will be limited to consideration of a soldier vote bill. Various groups, including state employee and school officials have asked that questions of additional school funds and greater pay increases for state employees be presented to the session.

Bricker also states that he would not open the question of park purchases.

'Freedom From Food'

In an editorial entitled, "Freedom From Food," editor John Ford of the Florida Farm Bureau Bulletin presents some startling facts that deserve the thoughtful consideration of city folks as well as farmers.

He points out that 125 dairies have gone out of business and that the sale of chick feed is off 80 percent compared with last year. Farmers and vegetable growers are quitting the soil in droves.

A South Florida county agent asked his vegetable farmers what their labor needs would be. Here is a typical reply: "I am so confused and discouraged I am not sure I will need anything. Last year I produced over 3000 tons of 'A' crops and lost half in the fields for lack of labor, repairs and transportation. Price control also means that I must cut down or quit completely. I cannot pay prevailing wages for farm help, take OPA prices for my crops and stay in business. I know there are hundreds of farmers in this area in the same fix. Many have already quit the business and gone to the shipyards."

With experienced farm hands as scarce as hen's teeth, materials of poor quality and difficult to get, packing houses undermanned and the whole agriculture picture a grand and glorious mess, it is little wonder our farmers are heart-sick and discouraged. Little relief is in sight, farmers continue to be drafted, conflicting rules, regulations and restrictions issued by impractical bureaucratic theorists impose greater handicaps and if the trend continues, editor Ford sees the possibility of city folks having to eat their food stamps and dollar bills when grocery stores find their shelves empty of fresh vegetables, eggs, milk and poultry.

"Maybe the OPA is not to blame, says Ford, "Under the President's ill-advised 'Hold the line order,' OPA price men, who know that perishables cannot be handled and treated like staples, have no choice and little authority."

"Maybe even the President has little choice. Maybe some of the Labor leaders decided he should hold the line—on everything but wages. Maybe we could get, the President to take over all farms for a few days, authorize substantial price increases and then turn them back to private operation."

"But for fear this may not happen, and for fear vegetable growers, poultrymen and dairymen may not be able to continue operation at such losses, we give here a receipt which should help use up ration stamps and excess money after corner grocery stores are empty:

BROWN POINTS EN CASSEROLE

Mince 3 fresh dollar bills. Shred 5 brown food stamps. Stir in slowly 10 each of blue and red ration points.—Rub the inside of the bowl with promises that relief will be granted.
—Dice together 6 economic data with 4 ration tokens. Add one L232, one MPR 292 and 3 priorities.—Stir together adding banana oil.—Season with pepper, IF YOU LIKE PEP.—PER—Sprinkle freely with words about freedom from want.—Half-bake slowly over the cooling fire of the New Deal.—Garnish with crisp $5.00 bills, and serve with expensive food subsidy Champaign (1943).—Enjoyment of the dish will be heightened if it is served by the Fireside to the quieting strains of "Don't Change Horses".

"If this dish is not to your liking Mr. City Man," warned Ford, "you had better help farmers get rid of the unworkable regulations which are ham-stringing food production. Remember, farmers will continue to eat, they will simply reduce operations to one cow, a dozen chickens and a backyard and go fishing. You are the fellow who will go hungry when the nation's producing acres return to weeds."

Whatever else the Stork may do, he does not bring vegetables. They have to be grown on farms by farmers who take long chances in producing them. Because of crop hazards and market gluts, the vegetable grower has always expected to lose money two-thirds of the time, then hit 'right' and get well on a temporarily good market. He has to come up some time for air. If we tell him he can't come up, then we surely can't blame him for not going down to start with. But he has to grow food before you can eat it, and nearly everybody needs to eat. Freedom from inflation, yes, but surely not Freedom from Food."

And folks, John Ford is telling it to you straight, you don't have to take his word for it, just go out and ask the first ten farmers you meet and boy, if you don't get an earful you never will, and most of 'em will tell you they're planting pepper this spring, to be plowed under in the fall.—Russell Kay.

The editorial above was sent to this office by Mr. Wilfred Weimer, who is a resident of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the article appearing in the editorial column of the daily paper in that city. By way of explanation the editorial expresses the views of Northerners who have returned from the south. Farmers and gardeners will lose hundreds of thousands of dollars on their spring crops due to New Deal regimentation, demanding increased crops and then not provide, crates or labor, trucks or freight shipments. Mention of the vegetable "pepper" is a slap at Sen. Pepper from that state who seeks re-nomination. He has been the mouth-piece for the New Deal and has backed Roosevelt on all issues. Mr. Kay, who signed the editorial is one of the outstanding members of the Florida newspaper fraternity and known to many Ohio publishers. The good news to Ohioans, and it should be to the nation, our northern friends bring back news from Florida that Senator Pepper, the New Deal internationalist, is on his way out at the coming primary election. He is one not deserving of a second term for either dog-catcher or Senator.

Boards Fill Draft By Age-Group System

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of selective service in a broadcast on Tuesday evening stated draft quotas will be filled by ages. The 18-26 class first to be followed by the 26-29 class and later by those over 30. Requirements will also be lowered which will admit some who have been deferred for various reasons.

Hershey promised that 4-F's who refuse to take war time jobs will be automatically placed in the draft.

Hershey said local draft boards will be instructed to balance the need for food against the critical demand for military manpower in weighing farm deferments.

ATTEND GOOD FRIDAY service today from Noon until three at the Presbyterian Church. Union Meeting north of town.

COUNCIL WILL ADOPT NEW PENALTY PLAN

At the regular meeting of village council Monday evening, Marcus McCallister, of the law firm of Smith, McCallister & Gibeay, solicitors for the village, was instructed to prepare an ordinance to include both sewer and water regulations with penalties for nonpayment. Failure to pay the rental of one or the other would be for the village to cut off the water. The ordinance would be in conformity with similar ordinances in force in cities. Utility companies have the same plan where both services are in one billing.

There will be no purchase of a siren at this time due to refusal of the War Production Board in Washington to issue a priority. In as much as the price of sirens is now about three times what they will be after the war, the village will be the gainer by waiting. Again there will be scores of sirens for sale after the war by cities that have already invested and will have no use for them after the war. The cities do not use them for fire calls as a big crowd around a fire is regarded as a hazard.

It was suggested that an air horn would do as good. It is not likely the village will experiment and continue to depend on the present fire bell.

Chief Marshall requested council to pay for the use of an automobile he would purchase to be used for special police duty. Council did not take to the idea but agreed to pay for use of a car where such was necessary providing there had been conviction. It then would become part of the cost assessed with the fine. New mattresses for the beds in the jail were ordered.

Village Clerk Nelson Creswell reported he had a communication from a professional man in Pomona, Calif., who desired to purchase the old fire bell, if it was to be discarded. The council had no idea of selling the bell at any time. It was purchased for use when the first opera house was constructed in 1886.

Saturday Night Fight; Sheriff Arrests Three

A Saturday night fracas at the Rainbow Inn, west of town, Columbus pike, resulted in Deputy Sheriffs C. K. O'Brien and E. C. Confer, making three arrests.

Three men were placed under arrest, Jesse Earl Blankenship, 28, Osborn R. 1, faced Judge Dan Aultman in municipal court and was fined $100 and costs, driving rights revoked for one year and given sixty days in the county jail. William Blankenship 22, and Laverne Whit, 24, both of Osborn, R. 1, were fined $25 and cost each for intoxication and given sixty-day jail sentence.

It is said the three engaged in a fight at the inn when William Scott, Cedarville, sustained a fractured nose and Joseph Pemberton, this place, a broken jaw in two places.

There have been numerous complaints about the Inn being a rendezvous for both boys and girls until the early morning hours, most of them juveniles. Parents would do well to check up on the whereabouts of their young folks. Something is going to happen and very soon if either the officials or parents, or both, do not do something that will check the first step to juvenile delinquency. And this includes a Xenia avenue resort also.

Parents that take children into the beer parlors can and should be placed under arrest either in local court, or taken before the juvenile court.

Spinal Meningitis Among Local Mexicans

A case of spinal meningitis has developed among forty Mexican laborers imported here by the Pennsylvania Railroad and quartered in the McMillan building, S. Main st. The victim is in the Springfield City Hospital under orders from Dr. Gordon E. Savage, county health commissioner.

As a result the building has been placed under quarantine yet the men are being transported in trucks to their working new rails for the Pennsylvania lines. They are not permitted to come in contact with people about town.

The local case is the fourth of the four of the same disease in the county, two in Xenia and one in Yellow Springs.

LITTLE BIG SHOTS

Just one more example, if it is needed, of the way bureaucracy works, has come to light in Washington. Farmers are complaining that some of them are forced to join the Agricultural Adjustment Agency program or else be denied draft deferments or gasoline priorities.

This shakedown, of course, is not general. Certainly it is not official. The AAA higher-ups in Washington probably knew nothing about it. As a matter of fact, they have hurried to state that the practice is contrary to AAA regulations and policy.

What has happened is that some little big shots in some counties have been so impressed by their position that they have taken it on themselves to issue orders. In their zeal to carry out the AAA program they have overstepped their bounds.

That, unfortunately, is the trouble with a centralized bureaucracy. The long tentacles of the octopus reach down into every nook and corner of the country. Thousands of baby bureaucrats lord it over the public and make up their own rules. The whole thing has gotten out of hand, with the result that the local gauleiters have adopted the dictator methods of the Civil War carpetbaggers.

The AAA racket is only one instance of a growing disease. There are others. And they are a big reason why America should seek a change. Eleven years of little big shots are enough, unless this country wants to stop trying to be a democracy.

Cincinnati Times-Star

We are not sure the Times-Star has made a very complete survey as to the part the "Little Big Shots" have played in the charge the AAA used underhanded methods to sign up farmers to the New Deal political agency while laddering out gasoline. The same charge had been made about draft deferments among farm boys. Those who put their name on the Roosevelt AAA contract might not have been conscious of what all they were signing.

In discussing the AAA-gasoline topic with numerous folks it seems there were two separate sheets of paper, one for gasoline and one for the AAA compliance. By clever maneuvering it was no trouble to get two signatures unless the signor read each blank carefully. The average person seeking gasoline for farm use probably thought of nothing else and signed just where and when he was told.

In as much as John Cunningham, Dean of Agriculture at O. S. U., headed a petition protesting AAA methods, we wonder if he was not aware that by signing two papers of different colors he was signing for the AAA at the same time he was asking for gasoline rations for farm use. Probably the "black-market" talk about gasoline was the method used to keep the farmer from being overly interested in what he was signing.

Now that a lot of farmers have signed up for gasoline, it will be interesting to learn just how many were innocently signing up for the AAA. Search your memory. You may belong to something where the principals say, "No New Deal Tammany methods were used to get farmers to sign up." Under a recent ruling, if AAA county boards even used the above method of getting your signature, there is a way you can get it off without much trouble. The House has written a protection in a bill to cover such acts. AAA board members or those of any other board or bureau doing the same thing must be cut off the payroll. This action has fired the anger of AAA board members, which accounts probably for the protest letter of Mr. Mason to Congressman Clarence J. Brown, who was prominent in uncovering such tricks being practiced on farmers. If you have been tricked in signing up for the AAA innocently, write to Cong. Brown at once and give him the details.

CONGRESS SHOULD MAKE PUBLIC AAA DOINGS

Following events the past week, the complaints of the many thousands of farmers as to their treatment from the AAA officials, Congress should make a thorough house cleaning. The public has lost all confidence in the work of the bureau from top to bottom. The many conflicting reports emanating from Washington proves some one has given orders to local boards to carry out the regimentation or dictatorial plans. If not the local boards are guilty of malfeasance in office and should be removed and penalized. If the trouble is in Washington then impeachment is in order.

One of the best cures for all such boards, and the entire government being directed on the Hitler-Stalin line, would be for Congress to make public all transactions. The AAA is a government agency supported financially from the income tax dollar and for that reason each man or woman that pays one cent of income taxes should know how his money is spent and for what purpose and who receives it. The continued cry among farmers about favoritism, the manner in which farm machinery has been rationed, the farm control plan and the milk subsidy all should be made public, or at least open to any one who wants to know. Under the Roosevelt-Wallace dictatorship the AAA is a closed political institution. Every effort is made to line up farmers directly or indirectly for the New Deal. The farm deferment situation also needs airing, some reports in circulation being the basis of a federal grand jury investigation.

All of these reports should be proven correct or false and the public given the truth which it is entitled to and not getting under the present management in any county. If Congress will call a lot of these AAA members to Washington with records and made to face the written complaints, the public could then have some idea of the truth or falsity of the charges. Whether the AAA plan is acceptable is not the question now. The income tax payer is entitled to know how his money is used. Congress should let more day-light in on the AAA management.

"Do not trade horses in mid-stream—Sink, swim or perish. That is the alternative to the war situation, while we ride a 'dead horse, the New Deal.'" One day we are winning the war, the next we are losing it. One day we get news of how many German planes are shot down and how few of our pilots that escape a prison camp. In giving the prison camp population we find more and more of our men held on German soil. Then we read news that 410 of our boys were shot down by our own troops, eight months ago. Monday we read that 14 other service men on the Pacific are shot down by American soldiers. Tuesday we find our bombers dropping bombs on our good neighbors in Switzerland. We do not lay all the blame on our officers. The trouble is the double headed, Churchill-Roosevelt, planning, a thing that should be left with Gen. Marshall and his staff. A Hyde Park Squire commanding an army that is 3,000 miles away. Yet we hear—"Don't trade horses in mid stream."

World politics is first with both Roosevelt and Churchill, and each is jealous and suspicious of the other. The British are whooping things up "re-elect Roosevelt" among the American forces. England wants our lend-lease terms revised and is sending a commission over. We are now furnishing men and money for the army to invade Europe. We hear much about what is ahead of our boys but we are not being told what is to be expected of Britain's boys in the invasion. Are we to risk crossing the stream on an old rag reported dead, or shall we ride a fresh horse with new life and a new purpose—win the war first and settle world politics later. Yet we hear that hollow mockery, "Don't Trade Horses—"

The "Don't Trade Anthem" comes from the three million or more on the government pay roll eating up your income taxes and advocating still higher taxes. It is the chant of the scores of "A-B-C" bureaus, the AAA and the XYZ's, fighting to retain their meal ticket at your expense.

The scare raised by Postmaster General Walker about sending ballots to our men and women in service overseas is nothing but an excuse to evade a law Roosevelt would not sign because it would put the voting under the directing of each state instead of administration stoges and no guarantee of a fair count. The New Deal does not want the soldiers to vote. It makes little difference whether we have a law or not. Under war time powers Roosevelt can, if he chooses, refuse to recognize any law. It will be up to him to order the ballots delivered and order army and navy officers to protect the voting. If he does not do that it will prove his own plan that congress rejected was not on the square.

Last week it was testified before a federal trade commission that a Capitol liquor company had sent five cases of bourbon whiskey to General Eisenhower in London. It was argued the liquor was a gift. Some one in the war department gave the necessary priority for it was sent by plane at a time the New Dealers were telling the American motorists that we had a shortage of gasoline. It is estimated the weight of the liquor shipment would be more than all the state ballots would be for two divisions of our soldiers. The waste of this gasoline was no different than the junk the White House gadding mamma enjoyed recently to the Caribbean Islands. Maybe there has been an over supply of American liquor among our officers which resulted in giving orders that cost the lives of 410 soldiers with American bullets. Should we or should we not "trade horses in mid-stream"? Dead soldiers and drunken officers will hardly win any war. It is up to those who sing the praise of the New Deal to do the explaining. Let's hear from the "A-men corner", the AAA.

The talk of every town, large and small, is "What is our foreign policy?" Roosevelt refuses to say. Hull has hedged and bungled and yet has not informed our people. Instead he talks about world peace. Joe Stalin is doing the least talking and the most fighting and winning, whether you like him or his policy, or not. Again, we must ask, "Shall we trade horses in mid-stream, or continue to send our boys to a slaughter when even young boys is to be. One day it is for?"

In speaking of governmental policy who knows what the policy of drafting young boys is to be. One day it is one thing and the next day another. Farmers are disturbed because the New Deal has no definite policy. Various plans are proposed but all interests seek some plan of deferment. Even the New Deal hedges when mention is made of the 35,000 yellow slackers on government pay located in Washington. Bureaus and commissions are packed with relatives of Roosevelt backers. The manpower policy is as uncertain as our foreign policy. One day McNutt is for conscription of labor and the next he is against it.

The Selective Service has a problem in the 4-F boys. How to use them if they are called for duty. It is also proposed to take able farm boys and then regiment the 4-F (disability) and assign them to farmers for labor on farm at a price to be fixed by the government. The 4-F lad would only get his $50 a month and overalls and farm board. A new problem comes up on this and how can any government other than under dictatorship compel a draftee to do private work. How can the government legally collect a certain sum per day for this labor and only pay the draftee army pay? Under our present form of dictatorship it can probably be done. That is what Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini are charged with doing.

The New Deal Supreme Court decision this week when negroes were given the right to vote in Texas, and this means in all Southern states, is going to put Mr. Roosevelt on the spot politically. He has blown hot and cold on the issue but never used his executive powers to see that the "lily whites" south of the Mason and Dixon line gave the negroes their constitutional rights. The decision in itself will mean nothing if the south does not want to recognize it. The states can set their own standard of requirement of all voters, white or black. The states can do away with the primary election and return to the old convention method. Here the negro can and will be barred. In as much as the south is Democratic it is up to Mr. Roosevelt to see that his party becomes law abiding. Will he do it? He will not!

Republicans look upon the Supreme Court decision as something that will reflect itself in the coming election. Do not be surprised if it does not become an issue in the Democratic convention. The southern delegation will demand to know what their Chief proposes to do about negro voting. If there is to be equality it should be in a military camp or on the battlefield. Stories we get as to the treatment of colored soldiers in southern camps border on what would be expected in the days following the Civil War. The soldier in uniform, who offers his life for his country, is still the "nigger" as in slave days. In several southern camps communities the colored soldiers are not permitted to go to town unless in a body for fear of lynching. They are not welcomed in southern stores. They are not permitted to talk to other Southern colored folks on or off the post. The white southern officer does not always recognize the rank of the colored lieutenant or even captain. He is often addressed as follows: "Here nigger, addressing a captain, bring out your niggers!" The negro is not going to get to vote in the south. If he does Franklin D. Roosevelt never will get a southern delegation in the Democratic convention. It is generally known the South is now urging Sen. Byrd of Virginia to be a candidate for the presidential nomination against FDR.

Sick Hens Won't Lay, So Watch for Diseases

Powl Pox, Colds Most Frequent Ailments

Diseases among your hens may be causing lowered egg production and unnecessary deaths. One of the most common is fowl pox, says Successful Farming magazine. This ailment spreads slowly but surely. Be on the lookout for the appearance of small, straw-colored or brown, wart-like scabs which may appear on the comb or wattles, or around the eyes and at the corners of the mouth.

It is not too late to vaccinate the flock if the disease is diagnosed by someone well experienced in the

TELEFACT

CHICKENS IN THE U. S. A. PER CAPITA

U. S. TURKEY FLOCK MAKES COMEBACK

There are now four chickens for every person in the United States while back in 1900 there were only three. Since there are now about 135,000,000 people in the country, there are some 540,000,000 chickens on farms.

Turkeys, too, have been increasing, after a long decline between 1900 and 1920. There are now about 6,000,000 of the big birds on the nation's farms, just about as many as there were at the turn of the century.

control of fowl pox if it has not gone too far. Inspect your flock at monthly intervals for those profit robbers, lice. The simplest method of freeing the birds from such parasites is to paint a reliable nicotine preparation on the roosts about a half hour before roosting time. Then be certain all the birds are on the roosts, because if a few lice escape the entire flock will become reinfested.

The greatest losses from infectious colds are loss of body weight and egg production. If the disease occurs, you may first notice that a few birds remain on the roosts most of the day or particularly in the afternoon when grain is hand-fed. The infected individuals should be removed from the flock if possible. Check the litter and if it is too wet remove it and add a deep, dry litter. If it is only damp add about an inch of dry litter to the top of it and stir it every few days. Do everything possible to keep the birds eating at top pitch. The use of a moist mash at noon, or the feeding of mash pellets will help.

In the absence of an outbreak of a serious infectious disease, it is unnecessary to change litter every two weeks or two months. Instead, with a good sort of highly absorbent litter three inches deep, add about an inch of new litter at frequent intervals until the litter is at least six inches deep by December 1.

Either keep the litter stirred or feed grain in the litter so that the birds stir it sufficiently. This built-up litter is one guarantee against unnecessary cold floors, which cause lowered egg production.

Cull the birds frequently and regularly. This practice conserves floor space per bird, tends to lower mortality, and raises the percentage of egg production. Take out the birds which aren't contributing their share to your pocketbook and the war effort.

The best method to conserve fowl vitality is to remove any lame birds and those with gray eyes (providing the pupils are irregular in outline).

If disease occurs, act promptly and get an accurate diagnosis. Be certain that casualties are promptly disposed of by burning them, or burying deep enough so that dogs cannot dig them up.

Plant Cover Crops
Vegetable growers will find the fall a favorable time to sow cover crops, either after an early market crop has been removed or just before the last cultivation of a late market crop. H. R. Cox, extension agronomist at Rutgers university, says:

Being a nitrogen gatherer, hairy vetch is one of the best of the winter cover crops. It will return to the soil, when plowed down next spring, the equivalent of several hundred pounds per acre of nitrate of soda.

Auto Tire Inspection Goes Out April 20th

No more tire inspection after April 20th according to press dispatches on Wednesday. The OPA says the rule has served a good purpose in educating motor car owners to take better care of their tires. However you must have inspection when you want a new tire.

While the motor public may have been educated on tire care it has also learned to know that most of our tire shortage was caused by the trade agreement Roosevelt and Hull made with the British rubber trust. Had the New Dealers permitted American interests to store their rubber here on this side of the Pacific, the Japs could not have captured it as they did after Pearl Harbor. The same can be said for block tin this country had to purchase from the British interests. Neither has the OPA ever given the public an accounting of the millions of rubber tires motorists turned over to the New Dealers. Most of these tires were sold back to motorists thru dealers. How much the government received has never been made public nor how much was paid government agents were paid to market the tires would be of great interest to motorists that made the "demand gift".

Sugar allotments for 1944 home canning needs have been fixed by the Office of Price Administration on the same quantity basis as prevailed last year. Sugar stamp 40 in War Ration Book No. 4 will be good for five pounds of sugar, while up to twenty-pounds additional per person may be allotted for canning purposes by ration boards upon application. Householders will soon be able to buy more galvanized buckets, washtubs and boilers, garbage cans, and other similar home needs than at any time since the beginning of the war, due to the expanded production of these items. Victory gardeners will also find the supply of tools more plentiful this year.

Washington rumor has it that Churchill and Roosevelt will soon have another conference in an attempt to revive the Atlantic Charter, and the Four Freedoms contained therein. Things have not been going at all well in the field of international diplomacy lately. The United States still lacks a definite understandable foreign policy. If action is not taken soon this nation may find itself as unprepared for peace as it was for war.

CHRIST'S VICTORY OVER DEATH

LESSON TEXT: I Corinthians 15:41-55.
GOLDEN TEXT: Thanks be to God, which gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—I Corinthians 15:57.

"If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen; and if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain" (I Cor. 15:13, 14).

In other words, the truth of the resurrection is the indispensable foundation stone upon which the structure of Christian doctrine rests. Beware of those who would spiritualize or explain it away!

The facts are there—fully proved and dependent. There is no need for doubt or question.

In our lesson we find:
I. The Great Change (vv. 41-50). Since it is obvious that our present bodies are not suitable for the spiritual world (v. 50), and that there comes, sooner or later (and almost always, it seems, too soon!), an end to their existence, there must be a radical transforming change. This takes place in the resurrection of the body.

To make such a blessed—and to the human mind, almost inconceivable—truth clear, Paul uses the effective method of comparison and contrast. Following his skillful use of the illustration of the sowing of grain, which dies that it may live again (I Cor. 15:35-39), he gives us a picture of the resurrection body.

That which we must put away in the sowing of seed, that which is a natural body, weak and lacking eternal glory (v. 43). It has already shown the evidences of decay and corruption, which we know shall be completely manifested in a short time. Marvelous as it has been as an earthly body, it cannot go with us into eternity (vv. 47, 48), for it is natural and not at home in the spiritual world.

Note, then, the great change that takes place. In the resurrection, the body for the eternal activity of the believer stands out as glorious, incorrupt and incorruptible, powerful, spiritually quickened, and heavenly.

What more could we desire? Here we stand amazed and at the same time encouraged by the revelation of what God has in store for us who believe on Christ. Death does not end all—it is only the beginning of real life, of life and usefulness for the Christian.

And all that is because of:
II. The Great Victory (vv. 51-57). Death is an enemy, indeed man's great enemy. There are those who have tried to deny this fact, to explain it away. They talk about death as "the great adventure," etc., but when one actually comes to face it, the truth is realized. It is an enemy.

But in Christ, death is a conquered enemy. The blessed message of Easter day is that "death is swallowed up in victory" (v. 54). Death could not hold our Lord (v. 57), and He was the "first fruits of them that sleep" (v. 20). This assures us that because He lives, we too, who believe on Him, shall live.

So death has lost its sting, and the grave its victory (v. 56). With Paul we cry out today from the depths of our beings, "Thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (v. 57). This is a day of joy, of singing, of victorious faith.

But the joy of Easter is not simply something to warm one's heart. It is—
III. The Great Incentive (v. 58). Living for Christ and serving Him in this world is our greatest privilege, but we are all so human that we need encouragement. We need an incentive.

The Bible speaks much of the rewards of God to those who are faithful, and gives many assurances that we are not engaged in a vain task. At times it seems as though men only reject, and the work of the Lord moves but slowly, if at all.

Let us not be discouraged or disheartened. We follow and serve a victorious Christ. One who has triumphed over death and hell. What we do for Him is never done in vain. Note the helpful thought here. We are to be "unmovable," and yet "abounding." That seems paradoxical, but it is not, for it is only the life steadfast and unmovable at the center which can abound at the circumference.

That center is the resurrected Christ, and when we are established in Him, we are ready to live the abundant life for Him.

Easter is a glad day for a believer, but it is a sad day for the unbeliever. He may attempt to maintain an outward appearance of joy, but he will know in his heart that the message of the day is definitely not for him. And yet it is, for today he may by faith take as his Saviour the Risen One and enter into fullness of joy in Him.

So many people "celebrate" Easter all their lives, year after year, but never truly "keep the feast." Many such friends make this Easter day, 1944, the beginning of a new life in Christ!
